PROSTRATED BY INTENSE HEAT

New Oxford Boy One of Four Persons Seriously Affected at Hanover Celebration. Aeroplane Flights Successful at Fair.

Four prostrations, one of a serious nature, made up the toll exacted by Wednesday's heat wave during the celebration of the Hanover centennial. Thirty thousand persons, residents and visitors, lined the streets in the morning to view the industrial parade. In the afternoon 20,000 persons saw Joseph Richter, one of America's leading aviators, make two daring flights in the quarter stretch at the fair grounds. Officials stated it as their belief that the crowd Wednesday was the largest that ever visited Hanover on any one day in its history.

During the formation of the parade, Mrs. Jacob Sipling, about 55 years old, of Iron Bridge, was overcome by the heat and fell to the sidewalk unconscious. She was rushed to the office of Dr. Robert Meisenholder, where she was cared for. About the same time Mrs. Howard Beck, of Glatfelter, was overcome. She was taken to the Emergency hospital. Within five minutes after the two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Byers, New Oxford, was overcome and fell back in his cart unconscious. He was taken to the Emergency hospital and for a time it was thought the effects of the heat would prove fatal. William T. Ulrich, Washington, 71 years old, another victim, was taken to the Emergency hospital, where he was treated by Dr. Charles Wagner. The patients, however, revived and are out of danger.

Following the exercises of the morning the attention of the crowd centered upon the fair grounds and the aeroplane flight. Promptly at 1:45 p. m. Aviator Richter sailed away in his biplane amid a thunder of applause. He remained in the air 20 minutes and gave the crowd several thrills. During the flight he attained a speed of nearly a mile a minute and an altitude of 2,500 feet. When at a great altitude he took a sudden plunge directly for the grandstand. Timid women feared he had lost control of the machine and was plunging to earth, but when several hundred feet above their heads he executed a neat swoop and went back to a great altitude.

The aeroplane is of Mr. Richter's own construction. It weighs 560 pounds and when loaded with oil, the aviator and incidentals, is about 300 pounds heavier. The machine closely resembles the Taube machine of Germany and is an exact reproduction of the machine now in use over the battle fields of Europe. The engine is of the French pattern and is valued at $3,500. The entire machine is valued at $4,500. The propeller is constructed of black walnut and mahogany. Mr. Richter is a German but learned the art of flying in this country. He will make two flights to-day and two on Friday.

During the day it was said that numerous pickpockets infested the grounds. Michael Lauber, of York, is said to have lost $75.

HONEST WEIGHT EVERYWHERE SOON

Business People Believe that Long and Short Weight in Town and County Stores will soon be a Thing of the Past.

That it will be but a short time before most of the scales in Adams County will be up to the requirements of the State, and meet the annual tests which it is expected to give them, is the belief of Sealer of Weights and Measures Raffensperger who is soon to start on his second tour of inspection. A general desire to co-operate with the official has been manifested lately and several requests have been sent in to have the Sealer visit places of business in order to see whether or not everything is all right.

Mr. Raffensperger is about to test out again the platform scales and other large scales in the county. Many of them, inspected last year and found at fault, have been repaired or replaced since that time and the present condition of the scales is now to be looked into. Mr. Raffensperger wishes to get over the greater part of the territory between this time and cold weather and hopes to have the work done before the snows and wet weather come which will interfere with doing this work successfully.

After winter weather arrives he will go about as last year, visiting the stores and testing out weights, measures, and scales. It is believed that but a few of these will be found defective for there was a general cleaning up following the first tour of inspection, and many expensive scales underwent repairs while others not so expensive were replaced with modern and accurate apparatus.

The most encouraging sign is the request for inspections and the official states that he will be glad to respond to any calls, filling them as they are received and making the requested visits as soon as his work allows.

In some places the scales condemned have not been repaired or replaced and here it is likely some action will be taken unless the owner promptly shows a willingness to comply with the law.

The work is evidently accomplishing great good, both in protecting customers and in safeguarding merchants for not a few instances were recorded where the stores were giving over weight or extra measure.

RUSHING DAYS AT POST OFFICE

Christmas Mail Has Nothing on Matter now being Taken Care of by Uncle Sam's Men here. Candidates Send Many Letters.

Gettysburg's post office force is handling daily a volume of mail which almost equals in size the amount of matter usually taken care of during the Christmas holidays. The men at the office have their hands full and the time required to distribute and dispatch each mail has been growing longer daily, in spite of all the efforts to hurry.

A number of different causes are given for the rush in business. The candidates are using the mails almost every day to send out their literature, their letters, and other campaign matter. Three of them have been mailing envelopes in lots of 10,000 each, and the work of sorting this vast amount of material is a matter of several hours in each instance.

City firms are now flooding Gettysburg and the county with their fall catalogues. Farmers are more and more taking advantage of parcel post rates and increase in size allowed until peaches and other orchard and garden products are going through the Gettysburg post office in no small volume.

The return of the college students and the increase in enrollment at the local school adds its share to the volume of business. Many of the boys have their mail sent to their boarding houses and it is a matter of considerable detail to get these all straightened out and the carriers acquainted with the whereabouts of each student. The letters to and from home are frequent at the beginning of the term and the college mail alone amounts to several hundred pieces daily.

While the office force has all this to handle, city and rural carriers get their share of the burden. On Wednesday one rural carrier had no less than 500 letters to distribute along his route. The candidates have been so thorough in preparing their mailing lists that not a house is missed and it requires extra time to get over the routes.

The rush, it is expected, will continue until the early part of the week when there will be a lull following the close of the primary election campaign.

LOCAL FANS TO WATCH DRAFTING

Think Two Gettysburg Players will be Affected by Action to be Taken Next Week. Secrecy in Making the Announcements.

With frequent rumors that both Howard and Bigler are to be drafted by one or other of the big league teams, local fans are awaiting with keen interest the opening of the drafting season next week, when some action, it is believed, will be taken toward purchasing one or both of these men from Gettysburg. Howard, it is known, has been considered by at least two National League teams, while Bigler was also under observation during August.

Whatever action is taken will not likely be known here for some time, it is said. This is due to the action of organized base ball magnates who have decided not to make known the players drafted until their names have been actually affixed to the contracts for the coming year. This will require several days after the drafting is actually done.

The reason for this decision is the desire of the big men of base ball to prevent the Federal League from taking advantage of the work of organized base ball scouts who have discovered talent in the minor leagues. They fear that Fed managers would at once approach the drafted players and outbid the salaries offered in the National and American associations, with the result that some of the best talent would be lost.

Gettysburg, it is said, will be offered the regular draft price of $500 for Howard, and, if Bigler is chosen, a similar offer will be made for him. While the local board would welcome the money, which would give the team a fine start on the financial end of next year's season, they would dislike greatly to give up either of the men, both of whom were clearly entitled to places on the all Blue Ridge team, Howard being generally recognized as one of the strongest pitchers and Bigler as the best third baseman.

FIRST GAME

Cornell University Game less than Two Weeks away.

Gettysburg College opens its football season for 1915 on Tuesday, September 28, at Ithaca, New York, when Cornell University will be met for the first time since football became the great inter-collegiate sport. Coach O'Brien is working his large squad of men along lines, which, it is believed, will enable them to put up a very fine showing against the large university.

The new class has produced some fine material. Among the new men on Nixon Field is the full back of Yale's Freshman team in 1914, prep school material that made good on the gridiron last fall, and some college men who may be relied upon to take care of their end of the work.

Mark, the heavy tackle who proved such a strong asset to the orange and blue last fall and was not expected to return, came back on Wednesday and may be expected to give a good account of himself all season.

The first game is always watched with the keenest interest and that Cornell has been substituted for the University of Pennsylvania makes it all the more interesting this year. The weather is hindering practice here a great deal, but the college boys realize that the other institutions face the same trouble.

MOSSER-DUNCAN HOME WEDDING

Dr. Barkley Performed Ceremony at Marriage of his Grand-Daughter. Duncan Home Beautifully Decorated for the Event.

In the beautifully decorated drawing room of her home on Lincoln avenue, Miss Louise Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Duncan, was married to Oliver Daniel Mosser, of Chicago, Wednesday evening at eight o'clock, by her grandfather, Dr. T. J. Barkley. About forty guests were present.

A profusion of oak leaves, pink and white asters, ferns and potted plants was used in the scheme of decorations which was carried out through the house with arches of asparagus fern and pink roses at the doorways.

The bride entered from the stairway with her sister, Miss Katherine Duncan as the maid of honor, the bridegroom and the best man, John Hill, of Chicago, meeting them before a background of oak leaves and asters. Miss Minnie Lohr and Ernest Baker played the Lohengrin March, and during the marriage service Schubert's Serenade. The double ring ceremony was used.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white brocade crepe and carried an old fashioned bouquet of pink and white roses and lilies of the valley. Her veil was caught with a coronet of orange blossoms. Miss Katherine Duncan wore a gown of pink faille and carried pink roses.

Supper was served after the wedding, in the dining room where a color scheme of pink and white was carried out with Killarney roses. The guests were served at tables of four. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Mosser went to York by automobile and will go to Chicago, their future home, by way of the Great Lakes.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Duncan. She attended Gettysburg College and Wilkeson College, and is a graduate of Washington Seminary, Washington, D. C. Mr. Mosser was graduated from Gettysburg College in 1909 where he was a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. He has been with Armour and Company since his graduation. Mr. Mosser's home is in Ashland, Kentucky. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Mosser.

The wedding supper was served by Rutherford, of Harrisburg. Cremer, of Hanover, had charge of the decorations.

ACCIDENT NEAR TOWN

Five People Escape Remarkably in Automobile Smash up.

In endeavoring to avoid striking a team which was coming out of the Bonneville Bridge, east of Gettysburg, Wednesday evening, H. J. Cronise, drove his five passenger touring car against the wing wall, throwing out the five occupants of the car which was badly wrecked. All escaped without any injuries but severe cuts and bruises.

In the car were Mr. and Mrs. Cronise, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. D. Thomas and a small child, all of Biglerville. They were descending the long hill and could not see the approaching team until they reached the sharp curve near the entrance to the bridge. All except the child were thrown into some brush about fifteen feet from the roadway. The child was found sitting on the fender of the machine.

The party had their injuries dressed by Dr. Hartman and then left for their homes. The car was towed to a local garage for repairs. The damage is extensive, two front wheels being torn off, the radiator mashed, the fenders bent, and the windshield bent.

U. S. SENDS PROOF OF ARABIC SINKING

Evidence Submitted For Germany's Information.

QUICK ACTION EXPECTED

Diplomatic Relations Will Be Severed Unless Disavowal Is Forthcoming—Evidence Lacking in Hesperian Case.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Secretary of State Lansing announced that the state department had forwarded to Ambassador Gerard at Berlin the evidence in its possession regarding the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic.

No representations accompanied the report, which was submitted for information of the German government at Ambassador von Bernstorff's request, because his government had heard only one side of the incident.

Count von Bernstorff left Washington for the summer embassy at Cedarhurst, L. I., to await further word from the German foreign office on its attitude in the light of proof that the liner was proceeding peacefully when torpedoed without warning. It was considered unlikely that the ambassador would resume his discussions with Secretary Lansing pending the receipt of advices from Berlin which probably will require ten days or more.

Tension over the situation between the two nations apparently was relaxed and hopes for an early and friendly adjustment were renewed in German and government quarters. The fact that informal discussions were proceeding both in Berlin and Washington was emphasized.

If Germany declines to disavow responsibility for the act of the submarine commander in sinking the Arabic a break in the diplomatic relations of the two countries, it is believed, is sure to follow.

It was stated on what was declared to be unquestionable authority that the president has determined on this course: There must be a complete understanding reached now between the United States and Germany which will prevent for all time any further incidents such as the Lusitania and the Arabic.

The president's attitude has been carefully explained to Ambassador von Bernstorff and he has communicated it to Berlin. State department officials, commenting on the disclaimer of the Berlin government that the Canadian liner Hesperian was torpedoed, said that insufficient evidence had been received from which to make representations to Germany at this time.

Official reports have made no reference to the fact that large pieces of metal were found on the decks of the vessel which might furnish evidence to determine whether the ship was the victim of a mine or a torpedo. If it should be determined that the Hesperian struck a mine, officials say there will be no means of fixing responsibility.

SAYS AGREEMENT IS SURE

Bernstorff Predicts Nations Will Be More Friendly Than Ever.

New York, Sept. 16.—"You may say for me that I am sure that within a fortnight all supposed differences between the United States and Germany will have been settled, and permanently settled, and the nations will be more friendly than they ever have been."

The "Evening World" publishes the above statement, which it says was given one of its men by Count von Bernstorff, German ambassador, who arrived here from Washington.

"What gives you this assurance?" he was asked.

"Because," he said, "I am in charge now. Mr. Lansing and myself have reached a complete understanding. We have completely shared each other's views and are in accord."

Peace Distant, Wilson Told. Washington, Sept. 16.—President Wilson was told by Dr. Aletta H. Jacobs, of Amsterdam, Holland, that there is little prospect of European peace in the near future. Dr. Jacobs was one of the delegates to the women's peace conference held at The Hague several months ago, and later discussed peace with high officials of various nations in Europe with Miss Jane Adams, of Chicago.

German Airship Damaged. London, Sept. 16.—A German airship, badly damaged by Russian gun fire, has descended at Koenigsberg, East Prussia, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to the Central News. It is believed to have been one of those which participated in the raid on the gulf of Riga.

Sunk by U-Boat. Copenhagen, Sept. 16.—The Norwegian steamer Hortor Norte has been torpedoed and sunk in the North sea. Her crew was saved.

GERMAN BOLT SHOT, KITCHENER PREDICTS

Makes Optimistic Speech in Parliament.

London, Sept. 16.—The seventh vote of credit since the outbreak of the war, bringing up the total to £1,262,000,000, ($6,310,000,000), was moved in the house of commons this afternoon by Premier Asquith.

The amount asked for was £250,000,000 ($1,250,000,000). The premier also announced that nearly 3,000,000 men had enlisted. He made this statement in reviewing the financial and military situations, so far as military exigencies permitted, but this requirement necessitated in many instances only vague references to the trend of events.

In the upper house Lord Kitchener, secretary of war, announced: "The Germans appear almost to have shifted their bolt. Their advance in Russia, which at one time averaged five miles a day, now has diminished to less than one mile a day."

"The response of the country to calls for recruits has been little short of marvelous," he continued, "but the problem how to insure the field force being kept at full strength is engaging our close attention, and will, I hope, soon receive a practical solution. I do not for one instant doubt that whatever sacrifice may prove necessary will be undergone cheerfully by our people."

RUSSIANS TURN ON INVADERS

Flanking Move Endangers Foe's Right Wing.

13,000 PRISONERS TAKEN

Germany Officially Announces Gains all Along Eastern Front Despite Stubborn Resistance.

Petrograd, Sept. 16.—Two sudden flanking movements by the Russian troops have put the entire Austro-German right wing in a dangerous predicament, which threatens with disaster the great Teutonic invasion of Russia, according to latest reports received by the war office.

South of the Pripiet marshes large German forces are hurriedly retreating, pursued by the Russians, who have crossed the Goryn river and are pressing forward. Still farther south the Austro-German troops were forced to withdraw to the Stropa river and are finding it difficult to hold their positions.

In the fighting of the last three days more than 13,000 prisoners have been taken by the Russians. The Austro-German armies are believed to have lost three times that number in killed and wounded.

General Ivanoff, commander of the southern Russian army, has executed a brilliant piece of strategy, according to the Petrograd military experts. Permitting the Austrian and German forces to advance to the Lutsch-Dubna line, he suddenly launched an offensive against the Teutons left flank from the Pripiet marshes, at the same time making a similar attack on the enemy's right from the Sereth river positions.

The Austro-German salient extending into Russian territory from northeastern Galicia immediately found itself in great difficulties. Retreat was found necessary. That retreat is now in progress. Only a part of the Teuton army has been able to extricate itself, however.

Counter Attacks Futile, Says Berlin. Berlin, Sept. 16.—Despite the violence of the Russian counter-attacks and the stubbornness of the Russian defense, the Germans continue to advance in Poland.

In southern Poland, the Russians, who are retreating toward Pinsk, are being hotly pursued by the armies of Field Marshal von Mackensen.

The official statement of the German war office states that the Szczara river has been reached by the troops of Field Marshal von Hindenburg and that farther south the Russians have been driven across the Szczara by the forces of Prince Leopold, of Bavaria.

ENTENTE FINANCIERS IN FEAR OF VIOLENCE

Double Guard After Threats Against Billion Dollar Loan.

New York, Sept. 16.—The pro-German campaign against the flotation of a billion-dollar credit loan in the United States to Great Britain and France appeared to assume the proportions of a country-wide movement, threatening even the personal safety of the six members of the Anglo-French financial commission.

Members of this commission, of which Baron Reading, lord chief justice of England, is chairman, have doubled their body guards, it became known. They have been requested by the police of New York not to announce in advance their plans for any day and in no instance to appear on the streets without detectives guarding them.

While the commission was in conference with American financiers an unconfirmed report grew current in Wall street that the proposed loan would not be made unless American securities now held in Europe were deposited here as collateral. Members of the commission, it is said, are attempting to procure the loan upon no other security than the pledged word of the British and French governments.

More than fifty threatening letters have been received by the commission. Their contents run the scale from abuse to threats against the lives of the commissioners. Some of the most threatening of these letters have been turned over to the police for investigation, it is said, and New York city detectives are now reported to be engaged in seeking the writers.

15,000 MILE TRIP TO SEE HUSBAND

Wife Then Has but One Hour to Say Goodby.

DELAYED BY MANY MISHAPS

Starting in Tokyo, She Crosses Pacific, American Continent and the Atlantic to See Man Who Is Just About to Leave London For the Battlefield. Her Long Journey an Exciting One.

The story of how a young Canadian bride raced 15,000 miles, from Tokyo to London, across the Pacific, the American continent and the Atlantic, to see her soldier bridegroom for a few days and of the curious string of mishaps that delayed her arrival so that she saw him for an hour only is interesting and thrilling.

The husband was adviser to a large timber concern in Canada. The honeymoon was hardly over when he was called away on a long job in England, where it was impossible to take his bride. After he had left she decided to accompany friends on a trip to Japan. She had been in the island empire some time without hearing from her husband when she received a cable message stating that he had enlisted on his arrival in England in a Canadian regiment, which had gone to the western front with one of the first drafts.

Leaves Tokyo For London.

Making up her mind to see him immediately, the bride left Tokyo the next day for the first leg of her world circling journey. Arriving in Vancouver, she sent two cable messages, one engaging accommodations on the steamship Philadelphia at New York, the other informing her husband at the front of her step. Then she sped on across the country in America's fastest trains.

When the husband received his wife's message he calculated that the liner would reach Liverpool on Saturday, and succeeded in getting leave from the trenches for Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Meanwhile the Philadelphia, her prow pointed eastward, was swiftly putting America far behind her, and the bride was happy. Three days out from New York, however, things began to happen. Tantalizing delays began eating into the Philadelphia's schedule sailing time. First the liner had to stop to pick up a German passenger who had tried to commit suicide by drowning. Her husband in the British uniform, the bride could not quite pardon the captain for this delay, and she began to be restless.

Then as the vessel was approaching the submarine war zone, she picked up "S O S" calls from the Hesperian, and spent more valuable time looking over the sea for survivors. Next the ship's boilers went wrong just as she had entered the danger zone, and she stopped dead and drifted, an easy prey for any submarine. And finally, as a climax, the Philadelphia reached Liverpool, after all her mishaps, on Saturday night, too late for the passengers to land.

The bride spent a sleepless night, on the verge of nervous breakdown. Sunday morning brought a telegram from her husband in London saying that he was forced to leave for the front at 5:30 o'clock that afternoon. Determined to see him even if she had to fly the rest of the way, the girl finally persuaded the immigration officials to release her. As the ship glided alongside the docks and before it had come to a stop she leaped from the rail, and her luggage was thrown after her.

One Train Canceled, Second Late.

A moment later she was tearing in a taxicab through the streets of Liverpool to the railroad station, only to find the boat train had been canceled. After a tedious wait the girl bride caught an 11 o'clock train for London. It arrived in the metropolis twenty minutes late.

There the traveler met her husband and saw him for exactly one hour. After she had seen him aboard a troop train for France the girl went to a hotel and cried.

"Isn't it funny when you're in an awful hurry something always happens," a new arrival was remarking to his wife in the lobby below.

MORGAN BANK BOMB PROOF.

Iron Lattice Covers Dome and Protects the Financier.

To guard against bomb throwers contractors, under the glare of arc lamps, have covered the glass dome of the Morgan building with iron lattice work. In order that the work would not attract undue attention it was done at night when most people in the financial district had left for the day.

A detective has been on guard for weeks on the roof of the building and other detectives have been placed at windows in adjoining buildings overlooking the Morgan building to prevent anybody from throwing missiles through the dome.

Ever since J. P. Morgan was shot by a crank the Morgan building has been well guarded by detectives.

For President Judge

J. L. BUTT, ESQ.
of Gettysburg.

The support of the voters of the 51st Judicial District at the coming Non-Partisan Primaries on Tuesday, September 21, should be accorded Mr. Butt for many reasons.

A member of the Adams County Bar since 1889, he has successfully conducted one of the largest practices in the county, and one which by its constant growth has demonstrated the skill with which he has handled the many matters entrusted to him.

Though enjoying this exceptional volume of professional business, Mr. Butt has been thoroughly alive to the interests of the town and the county. He is at present directly concerned in many of the more important business concerns of Gettysburg, and, as the owner of fine farms and orchards, he gives constant employment to a large number of men. He has never before sought public office that offered compensation.

The people of the county have come to know Mr. Butt and trust him as a man of the highest sense and honor, one who never gives his word without fulfilling it to the last letter, one who has been trusted and has been true in all kinds of fiduciary relations.

In the settlement of hundreds of estates, in the trial of cases and in the counseling of individuals, banks and corporations, he has shown such intimate knowledge of legal principles that his judgment has been widely sought and characterized as safe and sound.

The candidacy of Mr. Butt has received the enthusiastic indorsement and approval of many citizens with whom he has had relations along the lines of his many activities and they are commending him to many others as one who, as President Judge of our Courts, will give all who come before him a square deal, and who will always be guided by his conscientious belief of what is right and just.

PENROD

Copyright, 1914, by Doubleday, Page &amp; Company

"Why, you can't do anything," Sam began argumentatively. "You talk about being a show all by yourself. What could you try to do? Show us something you can do."

"I didn't say I was going to do anything," returned the bolder one, still evading.

"Well, then, how'd you be a show?" Penrod demanded. "We got a show here, even if Herman didn't point out Verman didn't talk. Their father stabbed a man with a pitchfork. I guess, didn't he?"

"How do I know?"

"Well, I guess he's in jail, isn't he?"

"Well, what if their father is in jail?"

"I didn't say he wasn't, did I?"

"Well, your father ain't in jail, is he?"

"Well, I never said he was, did I?"

"Well, then," continued Penrod, "how could you be a show?"

He started abruptly, starting at Roderick, the birth of an idea plainly visible in his altered expression. He had suddenly remembered his intention to ask Roderick Magsworth Bitts, Jr., about Rena Magsworth, and his recollection collided in his mind with the irritation produced by Roderick's claiming some mysterious attainment which would warrant his setting up as a show in his single person. Penrod's whole manner changed instantly.

"Roddy," he asked, almost overwhelmed by a presence of something vast and magnificent. "Roddy, are you any relation of Rena Magsworth?"

Roderick had never heard of Rena Magsworth, although a concentration of the sentence yesterday pronounced upon her had turned, black and hot, upon the face of every newspaper in the country. He was not allowed to read the journals of the day, and his family's indignation over the sacrilegious coincidence of the name had not been expressed in his presence. But he saw that it was an awesome name to Penrod Schofield and Samuel Williams. Even Herman and Verman, though lacking many educational advantages on account of a long residence in the country, were informed on the subject of Rena Magsworth through hearsay, and they joined in the portentous silence.

"Roddy," repeated Penrod, "honest, is Rena Magsworth some relation of yours?"

There is no obsession more dangerous to its victims than a conviction—especially an inherited one of superiority; this world is so full of Missourians. And from his earliest years Roderick Magsworth Bitts, Jr., had been trained to believe in the importance of the Magsworth family. At every meal he absorbed a sense of Magsworth greatness, and yet in his infrequent meetings with persons of his own age and sex he was treated as negligible. Now dimly he perceived that there was a Magsworth claim of some sort which was impressive, even to the boys. Magsworth blood was the essential of all true distinction in the world, he knew. Consequently, having been driven into a cul-de-sac as a result of ignorant and unfounded boasting, he was ready to take advantage of what appeared to be a triumphal way out.

"Roddy," said Penrod again, with solemnity, "is Rena Magsworth some relation of yours?"

"Is she, Roddy?" asked Sam, almost hoarsely.

"She's my aunt!" shouted Roddy.

CHAPTER X.
Retiring From the Show Business.

SILENCE followed. Sam and Penrod, spellbound, gazed upon Roderick Magsworth Bitts, Jr.

So did Herman and Verman. Roddy's staggering lie had changed the face of things utterly. No one questioned it; no one realized that it was much too good to be true.

"Roddy," said Penrod in a voice tremulous with hope, "Roddy, will you join our show?"

Roddy joined.

Even he could see that the offer implied his being starred as the paramount attraction of a new order of things. It was obvious that he had swelled out suddenly, in the estimation of the other boys, to that importance which he had been taught to believe his native gift and natural right. The sensation was pleasant. He had often been treated with effusion by grownup callers and by acquaintances of his mother and sisters. He had heard ladies speak of him as "charming" and "that delightful child," and little girls had sometimes shown him deference, but until this moment no boy had ever allowed him for one moment to presume even to equality. Now, in a trice he was not only admitted to comradeship, but patently valued as something rare and sacred, to be reclined and pedestaled. In fact, the very first thing that Schofield & Williams did was to find a box for him to stand upon.

upon.

The misgivings roused in Roderick's bosom by the subsequent activities of the firm were not bothersome enough to make him forego his prominence as Exhibit A. He was not a "quick minded" boy, and it was long and much happened before he thoroughly comprehended the causes of his new celebrity. He had a shadowy feeling that if the affair came to be heard of at home it might not be liked, but, intoxicated by the glamour and bustle which surrounded a public character, he made no protest. On the contrary, he entered wholeheartedly into the preparations for the new show. Assuming, with Sam's assistance, a blue mustache and "sideburns," he helped in the painting of a new poster, which, supplanting the old one on the wall of the stable facing the cross street, screamed bloody murder at the passers in that rather populous thoroughfare:

SCHOFIELD & WILLIAMS

Megaphones were constructed out of heavy wrapping paper, and Penrod, Sam and Herman set out in different directions, delivering vocally the inflammatory proclamation of the poster to a large section of the residential quarter and leaving Roderick Magsworth Bitts, Jr., with Verman in the loft, shielded from all dead-end eyes. Upon the return of the heralds the Schofield & Williams military band played defiantly, and an awakened public once more thronged to fill the coffers of the firm.

Prosperity snuffed again. The very first audience after the acquisition of Roddy was larger than the largest of the morning. Master Bitts, the only exhibit placed upon a box, was a super-curio. All eyes fastened upon him and remained, hungrily feasting, throughout Penrod's luminous oration.

But the glory of one light must ever be the dimming of another. We dwell in a vale of seesaws, and cobwebs spin fastest upon laurel. Verman, the tattooed wild boy, speaking only in his native foreign languages, Verman the gay, Verman the capter, capered no more, he chuckled no more, he beckoned no more nor tapped his chest nor wheezed his idolatrous face in smiles. Gone, all gone, were his little artifices for attracting the general attention to himself. Gone was every engaging mannerism which had endeared him to the mercenary public. He squatted against the wall and glowered at the new sensation. It was the old story—the old, old story—of too much temperament. Verman was suffering from artistic jealousy.

"Daredevil" Pegoud

["Loop the loop" airplane killed in action.]

He was the dauntless aviator—high. He sailed his winged ship against the blue. Of heaven's feathered canopy, the sky! He was the captain! He, the intrepid crew!

And when the world was swallowed up in the dark and the mist, a massive cup of star fire split across his trail. That shimmered and shone like a meteor veil.

He was the dazzling hero of the age! At his command the gay air sprites would hold. Him close within their eager arms. Verman's wife.

In death—his power in war has now been told. And when the east was ruddied o'er With the blush of morn, supreme he'd soar!

An eagle skimming the roof of the world Ere yet day's banners were unfurled!

He was a maiden knight of heart's late hour. Faint holds him for her youngest child in fee. Mid pangs of cold and death, for glory's flower.

His hand was cut to pluck incessantly. Aye, came it midday day or night. His pilot hand could guide aright. Yet science marks the path to fly. Pegoud, the brave, must fly—and die!

TO AID OUR TRADE IN LATIN AMERICA

M'Adoo Submits Suggestion to President For Adoption.

WOULD ESTABLISH BANKS.

Asserts Reserve Institutions Are Needed in Principal Cities—Favors Government Owned Steamship Lines and Asks Funds For Another Pan-American Conference Next Year.

Secretary McAdoo has transmitted to President Wilson his report of the proceedings and conclusions of the pan-American financial conference, held here last May. He summarized his suggestions for carrying on the work of the conference and improving the financial and commercial relations between the participating nations as follows:

"First.—That the twelve federal reserve banks establish promptly joint agencies in the leading cities of all the countries of Central and South America for the purpose of providing enlarged credit facilities.

"Second.—That the government of the United States provide promptly the necessary steamship facilities by subscribing the capital stock of a corporation organized for the purpose of owning and operating the necessary steamship lines.

"Third.—That the international high commission on uniformity of laws be granted an appropriation of $25,000 to enable it to carry on the important work it has undertaken and represent the United States in the meeting of the international high commission of all the Latin American republics.

"Fourth.—That a pan American financial conference be held annually in Washington, and that congress authorize the president to extend invitations to the republics of Latin America to attend a financial conference in Washington in 1916, and that an appropriation of $50,000 be made for this conference."

To Their Advantage and Ours.

In support of his suggestion for the establishment of joint agencies of federal reserve banks in neighboring republics, Mr. McAdoo says that extension of the credit facilities of this nation in those countries will insure to "their, and our, advantage." He declared the plan advanced during the conference here for the amendment of the national bank act so that national banks could become stockholders in an independent bank which would do a foreign business, is inferior to that he now proposes for joint agencies of the reserve banks.

"The federal reserve banks," he argues, "comprise in their membership every national bank in the United States, as well as a number of leading state banks and trust companies. They constitute a financial organization of unequalled strength, and their operations in foreign countries will be for the common benefit of all banks composing the system. These agencies in foreign countries could, in addition to their banking business, render a great service to American business men and bankers by furnishing credit reports and general information about trade and finance in the various countries in which they operate."

The federal reserve act, Mr. McAdoo points out, authorizes the establishment of such agencies with the consent of the federal reserve board, and while the banks cannot be compelled to take action along these lines, encourage ment by the board may prompt them to it. Entrance into this field by the federal reserve banks, Mr. McAdoo says, will not prevent member banks from carrying on and enlarging the business they are now doing in foreign countries, but the capital and resources of the reserve banks utilized for the extension and promotion of commerce "would give them unrivaled financial power."

Must Have Steamships.

"The question of adequate steamship facilities," he says, "is fundamental and underlies every other question concerning our trade and future relations with the Latin American republics. The quick and effective solution of this problem is for the government of the United States to put itself behind a shipping enterprise, so the necessary financial support to make it successful will be assured. We cannot expect private capital in this country to engage in this essential undertaking. It is too big at the outset for private capital."

Berlin Claims That Krupps Have Perfected a New Process.

"In closing a series of articles on Germany seen through Austrian eyes the Austrian poet, Rudolf Hans Bartsch, gives a vivid description of the Krupp plant at Essen," says the Overseas News Agency.

"In it the fact is disclosed that the firm has developed a process of making steel absolutely immune against rust and even against the action of nitric acid."

COMB SAGE TEA
INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Thickness and Lustre at Once

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

CONSULS TO QUIT NORTHERN MEXICO

Border Uprising Prompts Gov. ernment to Remove Them.

REPRISALS ARE FEARED

Ultimate Recognition for General
Carranza is Predicted in Washington.

Washington, Sept. 16.—American consuls and consular agents in northern Sonora and Chihuahua have been ordered by this government to withdraw to the United States because of the dangers in border uprisings and inability of Mexican military leaders to protect them.

Lawless bands are operating in those states, it was unofficially stated, and American lives are not safe. All other American citizens in those states also have been told to come at once to the United States.

General Villa's statement recently that he was not responsible for the kidnapping of an American in his territory and that he could not control the lawless bands, precipitated this action, it was stated.

In official circles the notice to consuls was regarded as highly significant. It was declared that it meant ultimate recognition for Carranza.

The only representative of the United States government to remain in Villa territory will be Special Agent Carothers, now with Villa himself. It was said that the order would not affect him. The consul in Chihuahua, Villa's capital, is expected to start for the United States at once.

Fear Reprisals Along Border.
Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 16.—Two companies of infantry were hurried out of Brownsville for San Benito and Lyford, north of here, on reports that there was danger from Mexican bandits near those places.

With eight Mexicans found dead,
seven of them shot and one drowned in the Rio Grande, extensive preparations have been made to prevent reprisals or outbreaks during a two-day celebration of the Mexican Independence day, September 16.

One suspicious movement of armed men carrying red flags on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande was observed. Except for this incident, all reports of danger came from the American side exclusively, most of them from a considerable distance in the interior.

Outrages by Zapatistas.
Mexico City, Sept. 16.—General Emiliano Zapata's rebel hordes are committing terrible outrages in the state of Morelos.

Thousands of inhabitants of the districts held by the Zapatistas are starving to death, all the food supplies having been seized by the soldiers.

For a week no food of any kind has reached Toluco or Cuernavaca.
Zapata has put to death Ignacio de La Torres, son-in-law of Porfirio Diaz.

LEE BEATEN IN MARYLAND

United States Senator Loses Fight for gubernatorial Nomination.
Baltimore, Sept. 16.—State Comptroller Emerson C. Harrington decisively defeated United States Senator Blair Lee for the Democratic nomination for governor at the state primaries.

Harrington carried sixteen of the twenty-three counties and two of the four districts of Baltimore city, giving him a majority of forty-three votes in the state convention, which is to be held to ratify the choice of the people.

Ovington E. Weller, chairman of the state roads commission, was the Republican choice for the gubernatorial nomination.

The other nominees are: State attorney general, Albert C. Ritchie, Baltimore, Democrat; A. A. Doub, Allegany county, Republican; state comptroller, H. A. McMullen, Allega-ny county, Democrat; Robert F.
Duer, Somerset county, Republican.

Jealous Husband Kills Boarder.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Henry Keffers, a photographer, employed at the navy yard, was shot five times by Joseph Bentley, with whose wife he boarded. He died of his wounds.
Bentley had lived with his wife for a year. He met Keffers and the latter was leaving the house and shot him without warning.

Mexico City in Darkness.

Mexico City, Sept. 16.—The electrical supply in the Necaxa plant failed, plunging the capital in darkness, and with the street railway service tied up. The authorities had local dynamo working in a few hours and the street lighting was partially restored.
Almost perfect silence reigned during the night.

GOULD FAMILY TILT OVER $17.82 IN COURT

George Forecloses Against Howard's Property.

New York, Sept. 16.—Supreme Court Justice Donnelly signed an order directing Cornelius W. Wickersham, referee, to sell a plot of ground at Fifth avenue and Seventy-third street, of which Howard Gould is the owner of record, and against which George J. Gould instituted foreclosure proceedings when his brother failed to pay $17.82 interest on a tax lien.

Attorneys for Mrs. Katherine C.
Gould, who secured a legal separation from Howard Gould several years ago, contested the foreclosure, contending that if George Gould was allowed to foreclose their client would lose her dower right in the property, valued at more than $1,000,000.

George Gould testified his only reason for foreclosing was that he wanted the $17.82, "because I do not want the interest to mount up, even if Howard Gould is my brother." He also said he did not want the property to fall into unfriendly hands.

St. George, Utah, Sept. 16.—A baby three months old was the only one of ten passengers to escape death or injury when an automobile stage, leaving here for the railroad station,
at Lund, Utah, ran off the mountain road, near Bellevue, and rolled 200 feet to the bottom of a creek. Mrs.
Sarah Casto, Richfield, Utah, was killed.

Two other passengers were injured,
probably fatally.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

MEATLESS DISHES.

DINNER MENU.

Tomato and Onion Pie.
Buttered Beets. Green Peas.
Lettuce Haricots. Red Dressing.
Huckleberry Pie. Cream Cheese.
Iced Tea.

Tomato and Onion Pie.

PARBOIL some onions, slice them and fry in butter until colored.
Dip some tomatoes into boiling water, skin and slice. Lay alternate layers of tomato and onion in a pie dish, sprinkling each layer with breadcrumbs, small pieces of butter, salt and pepper. Cover with mashed potato.
Score with a fork and brown in the oven.

Tomato Rice.

Wash two ounces of rice thoroughly and cook it in half a pint of milk until quite soft and flavor with salt and pepper. Take one pound of stewed and sieved tomato and beat together.
Stir in one ounce of butter and cook until quite moist, but not wet. Serve very hot and, if liked, strew grated cheese over.

Tomato Rice and Eggs.

Serve the tomato rice in a fireproof dish with poached eggs on the top.

Stuffed Tomatoes.

Prepare the tomato rice as before.
Take the necessary number of large dry tomatoes, dip into boiling water, skin, cut the tops off and remove some of the pulp (the tops and pulp can be used for the puree). Fill the tomato cases with rice. Scatter with fine brown crumbs, seasoned with celery salt and cayenne. Put a little piece of butter on each and bake on a greased tin in a moderate oven for about twenty minutes. Serve hot.

Vegetable Curry (Hot or Iced).

Weigh five ounces of margarine.
Chop very fine four medium sized onions. Melt the margarine and cook the onions in it until they are a deep gold brown, a process which takes time. Meanwhile put on a saucer in the oven a tablespoonful of curry powder and leave it for ten minutes and then mix it smooth with a little milk or cream. Add to the onion mixture and cook gently for two hours at least, stirring now and then.

Cut into neat squares one small vegetable marrow, a small peeled on-cumber, one raw apple, two tomatoes (peeled) and some French beans with the strings removed, all of which have been previously cooked. Place in the curry mixture and cook gently for thirty minutes. Serve very hot with well boiled rice or ice cream.

Almost any leftover vegetables may be used in the curry, such as peas, cauliflower, broad beans, etc.

of Common Pleas of the 51st Judicial District.

DONALD P. McPHERSON
Gettysburg.

Subject to the Non Partisan Primary, and law 1.

In announcing my candidacy for President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the 51st Judicial District, I wish to thank my friends who, without regard to Party, have so generously expressed their approval of it and assure every voter of Adams and Fulton Counties that I shall appreciate their suffrage and support.

The Judgeship is now non-partisan —made so specifically by Act of Assembly—and if nominated and elected to that high office it will be my endeavor to observe the spirit of that act and to administer the duties of the office with fidelity and impartiality, to the end that the law may be enforced and justice done.

AFTER SEVEN YEARS

Gettysburg Testimony Remains Unshaken.

Time is the best test of truth. Here is a Gettysburg story that has stood the test of time. It is a story with a point which will come straight home to many of us.

Mrs. Mary Ohler, 147 Hanover St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I was troubled by weak kidneys for over a year. My back ached constantly and pains extended from my loins into my head. I had chills and dizzy spells and was bothered by the irregular passages of the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills were so highly recommended that I finally procured a box at the People's Drug Store and commenced their use. A few doses brought relief and after using them for a short time, all symptoms of the trouble disappeared."
(Statement given Nov. 1, 1907).

A WILLING CORROBORATION.
At a later date Mrs. Ohler said: "I heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills again and confirm all I have previously said about them. This medicine should have a permanent place in every household."

Price 50¢, at all dealers. Don't

What to Wear this Fall

AMERICA'S pre-eminent Fashion Artists present to you their most beautiful designs and most authoritative styles in the new Wooltex Suits and Coats.

As The Store That Sells Wooltex in this city, it is our pleasure to bring these new fashions direct to you. They are charming; they are beautiful; they are refined; they are becoming; they are correct.

Such a collection of authoritative styles in tailored suits and coats is made possible only by the concentrated efforts of artists who, as individuals, represent the best thought of the fashion centers of the world.

The best artistic skill of Paris, London, Vienna, New York and Cleveland is represented in these designs, all of which have received the approval of Madame Savarie, director of the Wooltex Fashion Bureau in Paris.

Here are the correct style features to look for when you choose your tailored suit or coat for fall and winter.

Natural Figure Lines

To be correctly dressed, your tailored suit must show the lines of the natural figure—not tight-fitting, but with graceful curves.

Stylish Jacket Features

Most suit jackets are hip length, though slightly longer ones are also in style. Fur and velvet on collar, cuffs and lower edge is especially modish. The collars are wide, to be worn close about the neck or flat, with wide revers to correspond.

Skirts Have Plaits

Skirts are moderately full—two to two-and-one-half yards. The fullness is laid in soft rolling or closely pressed plaits.

Coats With Graceful Incurve

Coats have a graceful incurve at the back, with full flaring skirts. Many handsome new models are big and loose, some being loosely belted to give the modish hanging outline.

WOOLTEX Tailored Suits and Coats embody all these authoritative style features. And to their stylish beauty are added the well known superiorities of Wooltex materials and Wooltex tailoring.

Give yourself the pleasure of seeing these new fall styles now. Try them on, if you wish. See how becoming and graceful the new modes are. Choose your suit or coat now. Have the pleasure of being stylishly and handsomely dressed throughout the full season.

Suits at $25 to $65

Coats at $16.50 to $45

Skirts at $5 to $15

BLUEJACKETS' WASHDAY TO BE ONLY A MEMORY.

Regular Laundries May Be Installed on All Sea Fighters.

The navy department will soon take under consideration Secretary Daniels' plan to install laundries for the enlisted men on all battleships.

It came about during the secretary's visit aboard a battleship during his first year in the service. Through an oversight a number of buckets of water containing soiled clothing of blue jackets had been left standing along the deck when the secretary came aboard. It was evidently "blue Monday" aboard that particular ship, and the secretary inquired the reason for the buckets.

He was told they were wash buckets in which the men did their own laundry work. When the secretary got back to Washington he decided that one of the first things to do would be to install a laundry on a battleship by way of experiment. The Texas was selected, and bids were opened for two large washing machines, two centrifugal wringers and a soap tank.

The operation of the laundry was placed in charge of a first lieutenant, and regular laundrymen were engaged to do the washing for the Texas. The members of the crew, released from the arduous duties of wash day, were glad to pay 40 cents a month, irrespective of the number of pieces they had in the wash. Officers, chief petty officers and users of mess linen are charged so much per piece, as these dignitaries are required to wear standing collars, and the laundry work for them is haidier.

According to the report made by Captain A. W. Grant, who was in command of the Texas until a short time ago, it is a big success. He recommended that laundries be established aboard all the battleships, and it is regarded as probable that the idea will be carried out before the close of the present administration.

Aside from the fact that it relieves a battleship crew of the work of laundry duty, the saving to the navy in fresh water is alone sufficient, officers say, to insure the installation of common laundries.

COTTON IN MANY COLORS.

Planter Believes His Successes Will Be Blow to Dye Makers.

Remarkable results seem about to be achieved by A. W. Brabham of Olathe, Kan., who has succeeded in producing cotton which "takes" its colors from white to deep olive green. The planter is positive that this cotton, when spun, will be a real success, for it is about to become a reality.

The seeds used by Brabham were of Egyptian staple. He has practiced seed selection extensively and in four years has secured in regular order from the Egyptian seed a cream, tan, yellow, green, light brown, olive green and brown.

The samples are not to be confused with things in cotton, which might be the result of exposure or weather conditions. Neither is there any suspicion that dye has been used.

Brabham believes that the spinners and manufacturers eventually will be enabled to "secure" cotton in the way of unmanufactured state in any desired shade or color.

HUMAN EEL IN 12 INCH PIPE.

Caught in Pool's Drain and Shot Along 250 Feet Into Ocean.

Jonah was shamed by what happened to Samuel Lash at Ashbury Park, N. J.

Mr. Lash was swimming in a bathing pool when attendants started to empty it. Lash was caught by the current and drawn into the twelve inch outlet pipe.

After struggling against the suction of the water he was carried through the pipe, past a sharp elbow and dropped into the ocean. He had traveled 250 feet.

Lash encountered smooth running until he hit the bend. He sustained several painful injuries, but at the hospital it was said his condition was not critical.
